Stanley's Boat Yard's Egbert Awarded Elizabeth Warren Award

BPS awarded Egbert, Stanley's Boat Yard and the Terhune family its Elizabeth Sargent Warren Award at the annual meeting on January 12, 2014. The Warren Award was created in 2013 to honor an individual or business for outstanding work in maintaining or preserving the historic character of a property or landscape.

In 1938, Stanley and Anna Ginalski purchased the 1885 Buzzards Bay scalloper Egbert and their Barrington boatyard just before the September hurricane. Both the boatyard and Egbert survived, although Egbert ended up atop dock pilings. Ginalski grandsons Steve and Kevin Terhune took over management of the boatyard and fully restored Egbert in 1983. She won the prize for best yacht restoration at Mystic Seaport's Antique and Classic Boat Rendezvous in 1996 and led the parade of boats celebrating Barrington Yacht Club's 100th anniversary in 2008.

Easily recognized while cruising Narragansett Bay, Egbert proudly represents Barrington's connection to its waterfront, a successful, four-generation business and a stunning preservation of New England's boating past.

Egbert will again be featured at the BPS gala: Barrington Ship to Shore on Saturday, September 27, 2014.

BPS Receives RISCA Grant for Deborah Baronas Scrim

The four, silk-screened, fabric panels providing the centerpiece for the BPS Museum exhibit: Barrington's Industrial Past were recently awarded a grant from the Rhode Island Council on the Arts.

The RISCA grants are a state program supporting the creation of new works of art by Rhode Island artists. Ms. Baronas received her art training at the Rhode Island School of Design, worked as a textile designer for 25 years where she developed an interest in capturing and recording the textile industry as it was vanishing from New England. The panels depict images from the Deep Rock Bottling Company, the Brookside Dairy, the Rhode Island Lace Works, the Barrington Brickyard and local oyster farming and ice harvesting.

As well as creating the scrim for the exhibit, Ms. Baronas gave two, BPS museum gallery talks on The Artist's View of History

Tuesday – Saturday,
June 24 –28, 9 –12 noon

Meet at Barrington Preservation Society Museum (lower level, Peck Library)

Learn about the Wampanoag Indians, who camped along the shores of Hundred Acre Cove and taught the early European settlers how to plant corn; check out the oldest gravestones in Prince's Hill Cemetery and the jail cell in the basement of Barrington Town Hall. Look for clues to Barrington's history along the bike path that was once a railroad line and learn mapping, book making, early American games and journal writing.

$100 for Barrington Preservation Society members
$120 for non-members

Co-sponsored by the Barrington Preservation Society and the Barrington Recreation Department.

Barrington Ship to Shore

MUSEUM EXHIBIT OPENING RECEPTION

Thursday, July 17, 6:30 -8:30 pm

The Pokanoket Indians camped in Barrington during the summers to fish the waters, and the early English settlers harvested the salt grass, used ferries to cross the rivers and opened boatbuilding businesses along the waterfront. While neighboring Warren was transitioning from a whaling port to textile manufacturing in the 19th century, Barrington developed as a farming community and seaside resort with waterfront homes and businesses.

With a small dory as its centerpiece, the "Barrington Ship to Shore" exhibit will celebrate Barrington's important recreational and business waterfront. Log books and marine tools from Stanley's Boat Yard and vintage yachting artifacts will be displayed alongside maps, charts, photographs from BPS archives and shells and objects collected along the seashore. The museum is located on the lower

Barrington Ship to Shore Gala

Saturday, September 27th, 5-8pm

This year's BPS Gala, Barrington Ship to Shore is scheduled for Saturday, September 27, from 5-8 pm at the Barrington Yacht Club. The cocktail party will be catered by Guy Abelson Events and focus on Barrington's rich maritime history, those who make their living on the water and those who merely dream of it.

The Terhune family yacht and 2014 Warren Award winner Egbert will be at the club dock welcoming visitors, and a day sail aboard Egbert will be featured in the silent auction. There will also be a display of vintage yachting photographs, models and artifacts.

To become a patron of the event, contact Jane Scola at jascola@cox.net. Clipper ship patrons ($500) receive two tickets to the event and listing on all promotional materials. Schooner patrons ($250) receive one ticket to the event and listing on all promotional materials. Sloop ($100) and Beetle cat ($50) patrons will also be listed on all promotional materials.

We would also like to hear from you!
